

Hot Melt Gluability

We have a Waldorf hot melt glue applicator, which applies a bead of hot melt glue to the backside of a sample. The glue is maintained at a desired temperature, and the top sample is applied and compressed with a desired amount of pressure for a desired time. Separation of the sample is performed manually, and the percent fiber tear is reported.